These goose feathers, which bring a ery high price, are shipped to Cincinnati. At Oxford station and at Nottingham, three miles below, two large shipments were made of feathers last

These are the main features of the peoceeding, as told by the excited of losses and all matters connected with insurance. housewives of the Chester district.

Th first intimation of the nature of the business came from Vineland, N. J., where the three had worked before coming to Oxford. Constable Vernon Ringler received the information and manner. Moylan was accompanied by his wife and two children; Burroughs by a woman supposed to be his wife. All three men boarded at different places in the town. The woman with Burrougs was a girl from the neighborhood of Belair, Md. While in Vine-Reardon & Grimes, Agents, land she had a quarrel with him and left him, finding refuge with a prominent family of that city, to whom she told the entire story. They took pity upon her and finally, after the renovators had left Vineland, started her on the way home to Belair. Instead however, she came to Oxford and rejoined Burroughs. Mrs. Moylan knew the circumstances, and immediately wrote to the people who had befriended the young woman, telling them what she had done. Upon receipt of this letter, the Vineland people notified the authorities there.

The Vatican, in a semi-official communication, says that the idea of making new proposals to Spain is so far from the intention of the Holy See that some of the officials support the suggestion of sending no further answer to the last Spanish pote. If Premier Canalejas is sincere, the communication says, he must resume the negotiations at the point where they were abruptly interrupted. Premier Canalejas in an interview esterday said: "I am determined not o allow the development of clericalism in Spain. A rupture of relations with the Vatican does not exist; the disagreement is momentary. It deals with a fixed question. I have no desire to extend it, and I do not wish war. The Vatican must intervene to modify a portion of the Spanish clergy; as, otherwise, if the clergy are allowed to conspire against the government, then, without consulting Rome, I will do Special prices on large quantities what my duty commands. The Vatican insists upon the withdrawal of a bill already presented but this I cannot and will not do, as it would mean the diminution of the power of the state."

The Catholic committee which had planned it explained the abandonment of the San Sebastian demonstration in a manifesto issued in Bilbac yesterday. After stigmatizing the government's actions as arbitrary the manifesto declares that the Catholics fear neither prosecutions nor threats and are ready to offer their lives in the defense of the sovereign pontiff. The vatican is receiving reports from Mgr. Vico, papal nuncio at Madrid,

According to these reports the Catholic organization on the Peninsula is perfect, making it impossible for Premier Canalejes to repeat there what the French ministry did in France, bringing about the separation of church that only a word from Rome would be necessary to have the whole population other hand the Carlists decare that they are ready to intervene, with the The method said to have been used certainty of carrying the day if Rome erally to support them.
